Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and efficiently. It tones the stomach and other organs, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the sympathetic effects of the disease, banishes the headache, and refreshes the tired mind. "I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat did me no good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—took three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.

WARRANTED

CONCORD, N.H., Dec. 17, 1890.

Parish Magazine Co., Paris, Texas. Please send me three doses of your Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic. I was pleased with the lot from your last order. The people were delighted with it. I gave your Chill Tonic to some children who were sick and weary and emaciated, having had chronic fevers for months past, one of them for a year, and within three weeks after beginning with the Chill Tonic they were hale and hearty, with red and rosy cheeks. I liked it like a charm.
